Overview

The Education & Training Award Level 3 (Ascentis) is an introductory teaching qualification. The award is appropriate for you if you are a teacher, tutor or trainer who may be working within an FE College, Adult and Community Learning Centre or Learning Provider, or if you are delivering work-based training such as within voluntary, community, private and public organisations. The course gives you an introduction to teaching and explores the roles and responsibilities associated with the teaching role. The planning and delivering of sessions including engaging and motivating learners and establishing ground rules within a learning environment is covered. It explores the different assessment methods and the need for record keeping. The delivery of an observed micro-teaching session or an assessed practice in a real work environment is a requirement of this qualification.
